Service dogs have enabled clients to attend school/college, engage in a career, and lead a fulfilling life. Tonya will speak to us about how service dogs are trained and share examples of clients who have achieved their educational and professional goals as a result of having a service dog. The presentation will feature a live demonstration by a fully trained service dog.

Letter from the President

It was a welcome celebration to gather as a group in the beauty of an outdoor facility. The powers that be smiled on us holding back threatening rain, allowing us to meet. For a few hours we could (almost) forget that a pandemic kept us from socializing for the past 18+ months. Regardless, we will not be deterred. Covid will not stop a group of strong, focused, and determined women from supporting and helping women achieve their best!

When Megan Ervine, Volunteer Coordinator from Home of the Sparrow, spoke I could not help but think that by the hand of fate, anyone of us could potentially be in need of support. Empathy and understanding tough situations that some women may face is the first step of helping to address those challenges. Home of the Sparrow, our partner organization, astounded me when Megan shared that they supported 819 women last year. Clearly they recognize and understand the needs that some women in Chester County face, and they are succeeding in addressing and helping those women avoid the pitfall of homelessness. Such a task seems Herculean, but Megan explained they have many donors. We will join those donors to make a difference.

I have a favorite book from my childhood entitled, "If Everybody Did" (Jo Ann Stover). Its moral is if each one of us did something positive that would be everybody and the world would be a wonderful place. Within our branch, everybody does! Your incredible generosity amazes me, but even small acts of kindness and contributions, will impact the women supported by The Home of the Sparrow, as well as the other organizations we support.

I look forward to engaging presentations, such as the Canine Partners for Life, in October, and success in supporting our mission: the coat drive for Home of the Sparrow, our pecan fund raiser, and Laundromat Library League book collection to name a few. Further details on some these activities are found in this newsletter.

I am grateful that I can assist rather than need to be assisted. And I thank you in advance of what we as EVERYBODY will accomplish this year.

Great things are not done by impulse, but by a series of small things brought together. - Vincent van Gogh

At times, it must seem overwhelming, but step-by-step each one of us hopes their challenges can be addressed. It requires thoughtfulness, sincerity, and generosity.

Canine Partners for Life: October Program

-- Janet Kane

Our speaker at the October 13th branch meeting will be by Tonya DiPilla, Associate Director for Development and Communication at Canine Partners for Life (CPL). Tonya will present information about the role of service dogs in helping recipients attain educational and professional goals while leading rich lives.

CPL is a wonderful organization with a mission to raise and train full-service dogs to assist recipients with mobility challenges and medical issues such as diabetes, seizure disorders, and heart conditions. They also provide home companions to clients who need emotional support such as children on the autism spectrum and veterans with PTSD. The dogs are bred and whelped at the CPL campus in Cochranville and spend their first year being raised in either a community home or one of the Pennsylvania state correctional institutions. Following their first year of training and socializing, they come into the CPL kennel program on campus and begin to learn advanced skills such as opening doors, retrieving specific objectives, and “go pay”, which is a command for the dog to take the client’s wallet and bring it up to the sales counter.

Service dogs are provided at no cost but recipients must be able to afford vet and food bills. The cost to raise and train each dog is approximately $30,000. Each dog is followed throughout its life and recipients are supported through additional training opportunities to ensure that their dog is providing the support most needed.

CPL dogs have enabled recipients from all over the country to continue their education or employment and lead a much richer life. For example, a recipient, who has a dog to alert her to an oncoming seizure, will now feel much more confident in her ability to attend college or hold down a job. A recipient who has assistance with mobility may now feel free to travel.

Please join us for our October 13th meeting, either in person, weather permitting, or in the recording of the session on ZOOM. Tonya will demonstrate with a CPL dog and you will be amazed to see what it can do!!

Home of the Sparrow “Pick a Coat” Tree

Megan Ervine, (right), Volunteer Coordinator at Home of the Sparrow, our branch’s Gateway to Equity awardee for this year, admires the fall themed “Pick A Coat” Tree that the Community Outreach Committee (from left) Mimi Jones, Peggy Staarman and Eva Kaufmann, created to enable AAUW members at the September meeting to select a woman or child for whom to purchase a winter coat.

When temperatures begin to fall, Home of the Sparrow employees check with their clients to make sure that all of the women and their children have warm winter coats. Those who need new ones are added to a list, which is given to volunteers, who then offer to shop for warm coats. Our branch has offered to provide coats for these children and women. At our September meeting Mimi, Peggy, and I set up a tree on which we had pinned colorful paper leaves with the basic information. Our members selected a leaf and registered. When the Home of the Sparrow folks have completed their list, we will get more specifics: the ages of the children, their sizes, and favorite colors. People who do not want to shop for coats were invited to contribute cash, and one of our Community Outreach members will do the shopping. (I just saw some beautiful Hilfiger coats for women for $29.99 at Costco!)

We had more than 20 members volunteer to help at our meeting in September, and are hoping to increase that number to about 40. If you would like to contribute a coat or some cash, let Peggy Staarman know, and she will add you to the list. (peggstaar@verizon.net).

As always, thank you for your generosity!

Home of the Sparrow Fashion Show!! October 26th!

Looking for a fun night out with your AAUW friends? The Home of the Sparrow has the answer: a dinner and fashion show! Held at the Desmond Hotel in Malvern, this event is the most popular one of the year and draws enthusiastic supporters of this wonderful organization. Mark your calendar for October 26th!

This year our own Sandra Harrelson has volunteered to be among the models of the fashions. Let's support Sandra and the event by signing up to attend! When you register you will see the main event; there are also opportunities to buy a chance for a Louis Vuitton bag. Our group is listed as the "AAUW Party." There are choices for the sit-down dinner.

It would be great to have a table or two of cheering AAUW members for this fun event. Watch out! Tickets sell out quickly! Get your tickets here: <https://POP.givesmart.com>

Home of the Sparrow: Mission to Partner With Women: September Program

Meghan Irvine, Volunteer Coordinator of Home of the Sparrow, our chapter's Gateway to Equity partner organization for this year, spoke to the chapter at the September 8 meeting at Thornbury Farm. She explained the organization's programs to help women facing homelessness or home insecurity to find secure housing, achieve long-term stability, and chart new paths for their futures. She noted that over 800 women plus children were helped last year.

While some women the programs help are homeless, others are often living paycheck to paycheck or in part-time employment, Meghan noted, and a crisis can put them at risk of eviction. Support also is provided to women who are re-entering society after prison, through WRAP, Women's Reentry and Reassessment Program. The Shared Housing Program matches someone needing financial help and companionship with someone who is homeless. The homeless person pays a small rent for part of a home. It's been harder to promote this program due to Covid, Meghan noted. Senior Housing is provided to women 55-62 who need housing stability, typically women who are working part time but facing potential eviction or difficulties meeting financial needs. There are two homes: one in West Chester provides communal living, the other in Coatesville provides private apartments. These homes are interim solutions while women are on a wait list for subsidized housing.

Another way in which Home of the Sparrow provides supporting housing is through subsidies to single women and mothers who can't make their entire rent, or who may be working part-time. And another program provides one-time payments to a landlord to prevent eviction of those who have a lease but who have experienced an unexpected crisis.

Home of the Sparrow believes strongly in the power of education and financial literacy as a tool to gain financial self-sufficiency and long-term housing stability. Program coordinators meet regularly with clients and hold women accountable to developing a sound budget and financial security. The majority of the women who are supported have jobs and pay a small program fee, but they are mentored to work toward better-paying or more permanent employment. Home of the Sparrow does use connections to help them with finding jobs. The Graduate Outreach program supports women who have gotten self-sufficient but benefit from donations for some needs, for example, items not covered by food stamps. Support is a key part of the program. "We provide a long-term safety net, access to crucial resources and trauma-informed support."

Meghan outlined a variety of ways in which the community can support the efforts of Home of the Sparrow. Our AAUW chapter will participate in some of them, including the Coat Drive and the Fashion Show on October 26 (see related articles). A spring gala and the McKee Golf Classic are also major fundraisers.

Meghan Irvine, Volunteer Coordinator, Home of the Sparrow

Many other volunteer activities are open, including "adopting" a family with children going back to school or for holiday gift giving, work days by companies and groups, providing cooked meals to residents, and more. There is a link on the Home of the Sparrow's website to make contact if interested.

MEMBER NEWS AND NOTES

In Memoriam: Betty Bradford

-- Janet Kane

It is with great sadness that we mourn the loss of Betty Bradford, who died at home on September 12 after battling a lengthy illness. Betty was a long-time member of our branch and will best be remembered for her kindness, generosity and fun-loving personality. An avid gardener, she was always so proud of her plantings; and, as a bridge player, she was always a supportive partner. Betty is survived by her children, Jane and Jim. May she rest in peace with her beloved husband, Wally and her son, John, who both pre-deceased her this year.

Betty was a 50-year member of AAUW and was past chairperson of our FIG, organized our (CONTINUED on next page)

Christmas Progressive Dinners and always volunteered as host when asked. She loved sharing her shade gardens and her many hosta varieties. Anyone Betty talked to then became her friend.

Betty was also a devoted and well-loved member of the Uwchlan Women's Garden Club. The memorial service for Betty Bradford was held on Saturday, September 18th at 1:00 at the Uwchlan Meeting House in Lionville and also through Zoom. Members contributed flowers to display in Betty's collection of teapots, and members of her family spoke.

The Obituary is on the James Terry Funeral Home website. In lieu of flowers please make a memorial contribution to the Uwchlan Conservation Trust, Box 212, Lionville, PA 19353 in Betty's name. Betty will be missed...she loved bringing her Irish knickknacks and Easter bunnies to decorate for our theme meetings. Her hosta garden was amazing. Before her passing she had wanted to have a pop up-garden...

EDITOR'S NOTE: Numerous members sent additional memorial information and shared memories. Following are some comments extracted from the longer piece written by Elaine Burgess.

"We became close to Betty and Wally in previous summers when we all participated together in Chester County Town and Village walks . . . But for Betty the highlight was undoubtedly the opportunity to invite us back to their home and serve us something she had prepared. She viewed entertaining as fun and was eager for more . . . I remember Betty most for her hospitality. She thrived on entertaining and was eager to open her home to our AAUW and other groups and to individuals. When she talked about AAUW she talked about the fun everyone had together . . . Even Betty's volunteer activities involved food and hospitality. For years she and Wally delivered Meals on Wheels.

In 1976 our AAUW branch published a "Celebration Cook Book" as a special bicentennial project. Betty contributed at least twelve recipes ranging from appetizers to punch to pancakes to cookies to casseroles and salads. The recipes are truly delicious sounding and interesting, but most revealing are the comments Betty included about them . . . Betty looked at every recipe and every meal she prepared as something she could share with others. What a delicious and fitting outlook on life to have! Thanks, Betty, for the recipes, the memories, and the friendship."

Thank you AAUW

-- Cathy Palmquist

Islamic Society of Chester County (ISCC) President and AAUW friend Bushra Qureshi sent an email thanking AAUW members for contributing items to the recent Afghan Refugee Supply Drive. "We are most grateful for the generous outpouring of support and supplies from AAUW members and the community," she wrote.

AAUW IN THE NEWS!

-- Cathy Palmquist

One of our AAUW members, Toni Gorkin, was included in an article in the September 8th edition of the Daily Local News (Local News, page 3, above the fold!) for her work as a Master Naturalist, and her work on a special project. The article, written by Kathy Cook, League of Women Voters of PA Environmental Chair (who did not receive recognition as author of the interesting article), gave considerable space to telling of Toni's work with the Uwchlan Township Advisory Council, and her leadership in the pollinator project to grow milkweed from seed. Toni explains several ways that milkweed seed can be germinated, to benefit bees and in particular, Monarch butterflies. Congratulations on finally being recognized for the work you do, Toni, and thanks so much for sharing this important information with the community!
